

Daniel Thelesklaf is the Director of the FIU of Liechtenstein, Chair of the Egmont Training Working Group, and Deputy Chair of Moneyval. He is a lawyer by profession, has 20 years of experience in Anti-Money Laundering and Anti-Corruption work. He joined the Federal Office for Police in 1998 to become the first Director of the Swiss FIU after a career in the private sector (banking and insurance). From 2001-2003, he was responsible for the establishment of the Liechtenstein Financial Market Authority.

After that, he worked as consultant in various anti-money laundering, anti-terrorist financing and anti-corruption projects and technical assistance missions, mainly in the Caribbean, Eastern and Central Europe and in various Central Asian countries, for the IMF, the Council of Europe, the UN and the OECD. From 2008-2011, he worked as Executive Director of the Basel Institute on Governance and supervised the activities of the International Centre for Asset Recovery.