

Synopsis

"Regulating virtual currencies in the fight against organised crime and terrorist funding:

John Lyons, Chief Executive of the International Cyber Security Protection Alliance (www.icspa.org), will outline the threat posed by the use of virtual currencies that support organised criminal groups and the execution of acts of terrorism. He will suggest measures that governments could take to regulate and monitor the movement of funds currently supporting all manner of illegal activity."