

Synopsis:The role of international liaison prosecutors

The importance of the role of liaison prosecutors in working with national and international partners to effectively combat serious organised and transnational crime is increasing. This presentation will focus on the value and scope of the position, considering the use of liaison prosecutors to progress investigations and casework, to develop training and skills for prosecutors and law enforcement, to identify gaps in existing law, to advise on legislative amendments to ensure that the legal framework is sufficiently robust, and to build capacity within prosecutorial and law enforcement agencies to enable them to work efficiently with international criminal justice partners.